

Nixon: U.S. bombing saving South Vietnam

FLORESVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — President Nixon said Sunday night that only American air and sea power are stopping a Communist takeover of South Vietnam. He vowed to bomb and shell North Vietnam as long as the enemy offensive continues.

"The North Vietnamese are taking a very great risk if they continue this invasion of the south," Nixon said. "I'll just leave it there and let them take their choice."

Nixon spoke in response to questions following an informal barbecue supper at the ranch home of Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

Guests at the party — 200 strong — spontaneously rose after Nixon's remarks and drank a toast with French champagne "to the courage of the President."

Nixon said intelligence reports from Vietnam indicate that the North Vietnamese offensive which began March 31 can be expected to continue for at least another four or five weeks.

But the President said the North Vietnamese "have utterly failed in their efforts to rally the people of South Vietnam to their cause."

Nixon predicted that South Vietnamese ground troops will be able to turn back the offensive, "provided the United States will continue to provide the air and sea power that we have been providing."

But he said an end to the air and sea power "would mean, of course, a Communist takeover."

Connally, the only Democrat in Nixon's cabinet, introduced the President at the lawn dinner on his Pico Ranch as "a disciplined man as I have ever known, mentally and physically."

The 200 invited guests, who ate steaming platefuls of barbecue beef, black-eyed peas and corn on the cob under a yellow striped tent, were mostly conservative Democrats who were supporters of Connally the three times he ran successfully for Texas governor, and of former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The Texas trip emphasized Nixon's wish to capture the state's 26 electoral votes at stake Nov. 7. Also, Connally has been mentioned as a replacement for Vice President Spiro T. Agnew on a November GOP ticket.

Nixon showed anger when he mentioned criticism from some Democratic presidential candidates and from some parts of the news media against the renewed U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

"Instead of the critics criticizing brave Americans flying dangerous missions and hitting military targets and military targets only, they ought to direct some of their criticism to the critics who are keeping the war going," Nixon said.

The remarks were among the most hawkish Nixon has made since he began his program of troop withdrawals from Vietnam almost three years ago.

At one point, Nixon told his critics to "tell it to Hanoi."

The guests — most of whom were moneyed Texans who regularly contribute to political candidates — applauded the President's stand.

In response to a question of why he did not order bombing raids on dams and dikes in North Vietnam, Nixon said they "would result in an enormous number of civilian casualties. That is something that we want to avoid and it is something that is not needed."

Connally had invited his guests to pepper Nixon with questions in a formal reminiscence of a White House news conference.

Nixon also said: "It is 'just nonsense' to say the Vietnam War is the cause of social unrest and other domestic problems."

Trade with the Soviet Union and Communist China can be expected to start slowly but will pick up in the years ahead.

He disagreed with Democratic critics who call for cuts in business tax deductions for depreciation and reductions of the oil depletion allowance. He said he favors "not only present depreciation rates, but going further."

India-Pakistan summit set

NEW DELHI — An India-Pakistan summit meeting is to take place in late May or early June, the two governments said. The encounter, involving India's Prime Minister Gandhi and Pakistan's President Bhutto, is expected to result in a peace treaty formally ending the Indo-Pakistani war.

Kleindienst explains busing

WASHINGTON — Acting Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst said Sunday that President Nixon's antibusing proposals were aimed at meeting "an urgent need for school desegregation standards that can be applied uniformly throughout the nation." Defending Nixon's desegregation policies in a statement to CBS Television, Kleindienst said: "The President's program, we believe, will be accepted by our citizens — regardless of race — who want the best possible education for their children." Discussing Nixon's plea to Congress for a moratorium on further court orders for busing of children to achieve racial balance, plus setting of equal educational opportunity standards, Kleindienst said:

"The President is not suggesting in either proposal that Congress tell the courts how to decide questions of law. It remains for the courts to determine when a constitutional right has been violated. The President is proposing that Congress establish uniform standards and priorities to assist the courts in fashioning remedies once they have found that a right has been violated."

Maine elects delegates

AUGUSTA — Maine Republicans Saturday elected eight delegates to the national convention, all of them committed to President Nixon. The 2,000 delegates to the state convention pledged "support of the administration, policies and programs of President Richard M. Nixon." They blocked an attempt to introduce a plank calling for an end to American involvement in Southeast Asia and return of American prisoners by Jan. 1, 1973. The platform also contains a proposal for increasing the state income tax to pay for local schools, but the convention killed proposals for a state lottery and no-fault insurance.

Hawaii may limit vehicles

HONOLULU — A bill passed by the Hawaii legislature and now on the desk of Gov. John A. Burns could put a limit on the number of vehicles allowed in the islands. The bill establishes an Interdepartmental Transportation Control Commission, whose four members would be empowered to determine a ceiling on the maximum number of vehicles allowed in Hawaii. It would recommend a figure to the State Legislature, which could legally establish a limit each year for automobiles on each island. Auto manufacturers and their local dealers are virtually guaranteed to challenge the measure, a step that could lead to years of litigation through the courts and up to the Supreme Court.

Dole chooses Humphrey

WHITESULPHURSPRINGS, W.Va. (UPI) — Republican National Chairman Bob Dole predicted Sunday that Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey would win the Democratic presidential nomination and give President Nixon a "tough" race in November.

Dole, also a U.S. senator from Kansas, made the forecast at a news conference in this mountain resort where the nation's GOP governors were assembled for the start of their annual spring meeting and special briefing on Nixon's reelection strategy.

Although he saw Humphrey of Minnesota emerging as the Democratic candidate, Dole said he felt that "whoever is nominated is going to be tough." As for Nixon's chances of winning a second term, he said "we're optimistic, but not over-confident."

Asked what would hurt the President most, Dole said a downturn in the economy would be "a tough one to handle" and that Nixon's policy in Vietnam "could" become a notable issue.

Five presidential primaries test strength of Democrats

By United Press International

With five presidential primaries on tap this week from the East Coast to the Midwest, Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and George S. McGovern were running close in Ohio Sunday, but Gov. George Wallace appeared to lead in North Carolina and Tennessee and challenged Humphrey in Indiana.

Meanwhile, it was learned that Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, who has been working hard in Ohio, was reassessing his primary plans because of a lack of funds. He called a meeting of his financial advisors Sunday to decide his future plans.

Jackson is the latest candidate to be plagued by a shortage of money. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine dropped out of the Democratic primary race Wednesday after a series of losses hurt him financially. It was uncertain how his cancellation of future primary races would affect the vote because his name remains on the ballot in several states.

Primaries are scheduled Tuesday in Ohio, Indiana and the District of Columbia; Tennessee will hold a primary Thursday and North Carolina on Saturday.

Also Tuesday, Alabama voters will have a choice between states of Democratic convention delegates pledged to Wallace and an unpledged slate, but Wallace is expected to take a majority of the delegates.

Humphrey appeared to be leading in Ohio, according to political observers, but McGovern was believed to be close behind.

"I think we're pulling in a considerable amount of that Muskie vote," said Jesse T. George, who is directing Humphrey's campaign in the state. The situation became less clear with Muskie's dropout because Gov. John J. Gilligan had actively supported him.

In Indiana, a longtime political observer said, "The Hoosier race is damned close. Call it Humphrey by a nose."

State colleges increase tuition

Special to The Record

HARRISBURG — Students will be paying $50 a year more to attend Pennsylvania's 14 state colleges beginning in November, according to Secretary of Education John C. Pittenger.

Pittenger announced the fee increases Saturday. He said the hikes were needed to offset inflation.

The increase will bring fees for Pennsylvania's students to $700 a year, and is expected to bring in an extra $3.9 million yearly to the schools' budgets.

The East Stroudsburg State College President, Dr. Darrell Holmes, and the college's board of trustees have

Viets capture combat base

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops captured South Vietnam's combat base two miles north of embattled Quang Tri City late Sunday, opening the northernmost province capital to what allied military officers said could be a Communist takeover.

Allied officers said two of five U.S. helicopters trying to evacuate some of the American advisers from Quang Tri city were shot down before they reached the city, but the crews were rescued. South Vietnamese marines and American advisers pulled back from the Quang Tri combat base to Quang Tri city under heavy fire and blew up a key bridge behind them on the Thach Han River which forms a barrier west of the city.

In the Central Highlands, Communist troops hit artillery base Lima, the last permanent defensive position protecting the province capital of Kontum City.

Military sources said 20 to 25 of the 50 American military personnel had been airlifted from Kontum and Pleiku, 20 miles to the south.

Artillery base Lima, five miles north of Kontum City, is the unofficial capital of the Montagnard tribesmen and is 280 miles north of Saigon.

The highlands and the northern province of Quang Tri have been key targets of the Communist offensive, now in its second month.

B52 bombers flew 19 missions Sunday night and early today trying to blunt the offensive, hitting Communist concentrations near Quang Tri, Kontum, Binh Duong province 30 miles west of Saigon, and Tay Ninh further to the north, spokesmen said. Each mission contained three to six planes.

Two American C130 Hercules transports dropped ammunition to besieged regimental base camp English in Communist dominated Bong Son district, 275 miles northeast of Saigon. English is the only government base left in the district.

War at a glance

By United Press International

Northern Front — Communists drive to outskirts of Quang Tri, South Vietnam's northernmost provincial capital. An estimated 95 Americans are still in the city, which has been cut off by both road and air. In Hue, 32 miles to the south, allied planes and U.S. Navy ships evacuate thousands of the 135,000 refugees who have poured into the old imperial capital.

Talks — Le Duc Tho, a member of the Communist politburo and Communist negotiator in two rounds of secret Vietnam peace talks, arrives in Paris, apparently for another series of secret sessions with the United States.

Air war — Giant B52s fly 28 missions over South Vietnam between noon Saturday and noon Sunday, beating by one the previous single day record set Feb. 14, six weeks before current offensive started. U.S. command says American planes, including B52s, flew 700 strikes over North Vietnam between April 20-29, destroying or damaging 250 enemy trucks and setting off 22 secondary explosions. U.S. fighters fly 250 strikes around Quang Tri and B52s fly another 11 missions in same area. North Vietnamese say they shoot down four more American planes.

Sea war — At least 13 Navy warships pound Communist positions in central and northern South Vietnam. Two of the ships — including the flagship of the 7th Fleet — are fired at but not hit by the Communists.

repeatedly stressed their opposition to the state's spiraling tuition costs.

Fees for out of state students are scheduled to go up $100 to $1,400 yearly.

Pittenger said, "I regret the need for increased fees, but the inflationary costs of maintaining quality education at the 14 institutions... makes the increase absolutely necessary at this time."

An estimated 75,000 students will be enrolled in the state colleges this fall.

Pittenger said the action was taken on the recommendation of the Board of State College Directors, which oversees operations at the schools.

Senate to tackle war issue

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Indochina war issue, rekindled by U. S. bombing of North Vietnam, gets another hearing in the Senate this week — perhaps some of it in secret. This time the vehicle for antiwar amendments is legislation carrying money authorization for the Voice of America and the U. S. Information Agency. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, its membership predominantly antiwar, last week cut the authorization for the two agencies from the $200.2 million sought by President Nixon to $154.6 million. And the Senate's first business this week will be to vote on an amendment by Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., to restore those cuts, contained in a package bill seeking $916.9 million for the State Department, the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency and the Peace Corps.

Florida given convention funds

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Miami Beach Mayor Chuck Hall and Gov. Reubin Askew will meet today to discuss how to use $550,000 in additional funds for policing next August's Republican National Convention, which is expected to be held here.

Hall received the promise of the extra money Saturday from Jerris Leonard, head of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA). The money brings to more than $1 million the funding to meet problems expected from the Democratic and Republican conventions.

Israel blasts role of Russia

By United Press International. Israeli Deputy Premier Yigal Allon said Sunday the Soviet Union had encouraged the Arab nations to resume the Middle East war during Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's visit to Moscow last week.

Sadat and the Kremlin issued a communique at the conclusion of his two-day visit Saturday that said Arab nations have "every right to use all methods" necessary to regain Arab territory captured by Israel during the 1967 war.

Astronauts undergo more tests

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Back home with their families and in top-notch health, the Apollo 16 astronauts put in a full day's work Sunday with more medical examinations and the first detailed debriefing on their adventures in the Moon's surprising highlands.

Doctors at the Manned Spacecraft Center said John W. Young, Charles M. Duke and Thomas K. Mattingly had regained their ability to work in earth gravity more quickly than normal for Moon crews— apparently because of special measures taken during the flight.

The astronauts returned home late Saturday evening, under the glow of a full moon, to a tumultuous welcome from their families and an estimated 3,000 of their fellow space center workers.

The 245 pounds of rock and soil which Young and Duke collected during three days at Descartes base, and the thousands of photographs all three men took on and around the Moon, also arrived Saturday.

If the Senate approves, the closed session will probably take place Tuesday.

Democratic unity may emerge on the antiwar issue when the party senators meet privately in caucus Wednesday.

The House, meanwhile, delves into the foreign policy question when its Foreign Affairs Committee opens hearings on U. S. relations with China, Taiwan, Korea and Thailand in particular and the Asia and Pacific areas in general.

Another subcommittee also will take up today and Tuesday the USA authorization measure, the Senate is expected to be wrestling with all week.

8 nuns arrested in protest

NEW YORK (UPI)—Eight nuns were arrested in St. Patrick's Cathedral Sunday morning while staging a protest against alleged failure by the Roman Catholic Church to speak out against the war in Indochina.

The nuns were charged with disrupting a religious service, an offense punishable by up to six months in jail or a $500 fine.

A spokesman for the New York archdiocese said, however, that it will not press charges against the demonstrators.

The nuns, who carried signs reading "Another Person Dead in Indochina," were arrested by detectives who had been called to St. Patrick's in anticipation of the demonstration.

Sister Karen Lydon, a spokeswoman for the Sisters of Charity order which sponsored the protest, said the nuns were symbolizing the victims of the Indochina War.

Cardinal Terence Cooke was present at the mass but did not speak to the protesters.

The law belongs to YOU

Some people live a lifetime without ever feeling that they are in direct, personal contact with the law. They may never be arrested, never be sued or sue anyone. They may never be summoned as a juror or a witness. If you hold such a view you are wrong. Every day of your life you are affected by laws, and protected by them. Here are just a few examples:

The electricity that lights your home and operates your appliances is subject to laws both as to rates and safety requirements.

The food you eat is subject to laws of marketing and quality.

The clothes you wear are required by law to be labeled to protect you against misrepresentation as to materials used.

Traffic laws protect you as you drive your car.

Labor laws establish standards of safety, working condition and hours where you work.

Health and safety laws apply to all public facilities, including those for recreation and amusements.

Even as you sleep, you are protected by laws setting safety and fire protection standards.

And that isn't all, by any means. The law is the basic route by which we accomplish social gains. Through legislative enactments, at all levels of government, the will of the people is expressed and progress toward a better society is consolidated. It always has been so, and it must continue to be if we are to retain the countless benefits of life in a lawful society. In more ways than you realize, the law functions as your friend and protector—not as something to be feared.

Only a lawful society can build a better society

State tax discussed at meeting

MILFORD — Pike County Commissioner Warner M. Depuy discussed the state income tax at the Milford Taxpayers League meeting Thursday night.

Depuy, who is also a former Pennsylvania secretary of revenue, was a last-minute substitute for Rep. William W. Foster, who was unable to attend the meeting.

Depuy said the increased demands for service has led to a continuing need for a broader tax base in the Commonwealth.

Depuy said he believed a graduated income tax would be the fairest for the taxpayers of the state. He explained such a change could only take place by enabling legislation passing two consecutive terms in the legislature and then being approved by the voters.

The former state official said he believed the Commonwealth with its broad tax base and lottery receipts should assume the operating costs of the schools in the state.

He said this would relieve property owners and enable them "to get something out of the system."

The Tocks Island project was also discussed during the meeting.

Daniel Sullivan, a planning commission member whose property was acquired for the project, stated if the recreation area project were dropped, the land acquired by the government would have to be sold at auction.

"And I couldn't bid against the land developers to get my property back," Sullivan declared.

He said growing development with on-site water and sewage was presenting a major pollution problem to the county.

Ideal hubby

GILBERT — In a column last week, I talked about the ideal wife. What every woman expects and what every woman gets. Thanks to the help of Helen L. Jones of Mt. Bethel, I have now received a cocktail napkin about the ideal husband.

According to the small bit of wit contained therein, this is what every woman expects from a man:

...always suave, charming, and cheerful, no matter how much work he has.
...combed night or day.
...lips that only ask: "How much do you want to spend?"
...never needs a shave
...strong arms for moving furniture
...strong hands that can stand hot dishwasher
...one hand always ready to pull out more spending money
...only hobby — spending too much on flowers, furs, jewelry, etc.

...strong legs for running to bring her breakfast in bed

...knees that bend easily for begging, and

...feet made for dancing all night, but only with his wife

Unfortunately what she gets is:

...legs just strong enough to get from the sofa to the refrigerator

...hands strong enough to open bottles and shuffle cards

...feet made for tracking up clean floors

...liquor mortis

...nothing to comb

...needs a shave again

...only a few old-timers can remember what he looks like standing up

...has rheumatism from resting on wet bars

...lips that only ask "What's for supper?" and "You spend too much."

AVOCA — At a presentation ceremony on April 27, at Economic Development Council of Northeastern Pennsylvania headquarters in Avoca, the United States Department of Commerce officially designated the Economic Development Council of Northeastern Pennsylvania (EDCNP) as an Associate Office to serve a seven-county region which includes Carbon, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Monroe, Pike, Schuylkill and Wayne counties.

The official designation was presented to EDCNP President John B. Hibbard and Executive Director Howard J. Grossman by Patrick McCabe, director, Philadelphia Field Office.

Through this voluntary cooperative arrangement, the services technical assistance program and publications of the U.S. Department of Commerce will be brought closer to business and industry in the region.

A wide variety of conferences, workshops and programs are continually available at the field office in Philadelphia. It is planned that periodically such programs can be arranged in this region through EDCNP and the other associate offices as represented by the Chambers of Commerce in Scranton, Pittston, Wilkes-Barre, Hazleton, Pottsville and Tamaqua.

CARPET TALK

By The Magic Carpet

Question: We recently obtained two estimates on carpeting for our two bedrooms. One store estimated the rooms to take 57 square yards; the other store 48 sq. yds. We called both stores about the difference but they both insisted their measurements were correct. We know the store with the higher estimate to be reputable. But how, then, can the other store be so much less in yardage?

Answer: Usually the first reaction is that the store with the higher has overestimated which is entirely possible. In this case however, since you feel the store with the higher estimate is honest, I would tend to suspect the other store of tricky estimating. This can be done by lowering the yardage and inflating the price per sq. yd. to cover or even exceed the difference. It also can be done in reverse. Too many times carpet customers are too concerned with "how many square yards" or "how much per sq. yd." when all that really matters is the quality of the carpet, cushion, labor etc., and the total completed cost.

PEN ARGYL — Susan Rutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rutt, Pen Argyl and Mark Wimmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wimmer, R.D. 3, Nazareth, have been chosen seniors of the month at the Pen Argyl Area High School.

Susan is a member of the student council, the high school chorus, the cheering club and the Knights of the Round Table; she is pianist in the Sunday School and teaches a Sunday School Class.

making for health programming from the federal to the regional level.

The project will work closely with the Health and Hospital Planning Council and the Regional Medical Program in developing a network of care which will reach all residents of the eight-county area.

The HHPC began work on the contract through an Advisory Committee established last June.

Search and By-Laws and articles of incorporation and searching organization concerned with health care for those with a major interest and desire to work toward the development of this corporation.

A spokesman for the Search Committee said he is hopeful that the experimental program will bring together the eight-county community in a new effort to begin to test and develop effective ways in which residents will realize equal access to health care at reasonable costs.

The work of the search committee is expected to result shortly in a membership pool and board of directors for the new corporation.

Welfare ogre still sprouting

Welfare continues to be a most vexing problem for the United States — and a most expensive one.

It was coincidental, but nonetheless illuminating, that the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced that the federal, state and local welfare bill had soared to a record $17.73 billion in 1971 just as the Senate Finance Committee killed President Nixon's proposed welfare reform bill Friday.

The bill, Nixon's so-called "family assistance plan", was belabored for apparently giving people on welfare every incentive to avoid taking a job.

After disposing of the Nixon measure, the committee proposed instead a bill that would create jobs and require employable welfare recipients to go to work or lose all federal benefits for themselves or their families.

Backward step

Critics of that measure, authored by Committee Chairman Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., in turn denounced the program as a "$9 billion step backward . . . into the leaf-raking schemes of the 1930s," a reference to the various make-work programs of the Rooseveltian New Deal era.

And in line with the national upward trend, Monroe County welfare rolls also climbed, from a total of 29 employables on welfare in 1970 to 121 in 1971. The total number of county residents welfare was 1,517 for the year, with an annual bill of $2,001,475: clearly a discomfiting set of figures.

By far the greatest number of welfare recipients were in the aid-to-dependent-children category — 1,150 for that segment alone. Of those 121 employables on welfare, 67 came from that category as well. That group also accounted for the greatest increase nationwide, a hike of 27.8 per cent to a total of $6.2 billion.

And that's the problem. The rise of welfare recipients in that category is tied inextricably to the rising divorce rate, for every time a family is broken up, the mother and her children are added almost automatically to the welfare rolls. These women for the most part are healthy and capable of working to support themselves — hence their inclusion in the "employable" side of the ledger.

Pay continues

The Nixon plan would have forced the mother to work or lose her payment, but in any event, payments for her children would continue. The Long plan proposes that the mother either take a job or lose payments for both herself and her children — federal payments, that is. State payments could continue, and we doubt any state would cut off funds, at least for the sake of the children — the real victims in this nightmare.

Of course, work would be required only of those mothers whose children were over 6 — in other words, of school age. Fulltime babysitters wouldn't be required (in any case, they would be too expensive for the vast majority of working mothers). These families constitute 1.2 million of the three million families under the aid to dependent children program.

We can't say we like either program, but as long as people are going to live under the delusion that their responsibilities are only to themselves and no one else, some sort of plan is necessary and inevitable.

As with so many of our other problems, though, the solution isn't going to be found in simply paying for our mistakes. We must get at the causes of this increasing welfare burden, and that is to instill in our population the realization that we must not depend on the state to bail us out of our difficulties. We must do that for ourselves.

Speaking of needs . . .

While everyone wrings his hands over mounting welfare costs, it becomes more and more obvious that we are facing a health cost crisis. More and more people are finding themselves either unable to procure medical treatment, or being financially ruined by the treatment they do receive.

One gent, "Hard Luck Clancy" by name, has taken an unusual step to solve that problem — he robs banks. There is some question how badly he needs medical treatment or psychiatric treatment, but his actions and subsequent legal dilemma — he is charged with three bank jobs — underscores the fact that we are on the brink of needing a national medical coverage plan to insure adequate medical attention for all.

And if you think the welfare bill now is overwhelming, just wait until some sort of medical plan is enacted. The cost will be astronomical. Maybe that bank-robbing gambit isn't such a bad idea, after all!

What did he say?

Words are the primitive tools of the tongue. They make complex sounds which are meaningless unless received by a pair of ears. Even then, they are misconstrued, which elicits a question from the ears and this causes a reinterpretation of the original thought.

Without more sophisticated and precise tools, man is impaled on his own vocabulary. A half century ago, when there was a League of Nations, the first order of business was to devise an official language. After a great deal of bluster and sandpapered sensitivities, it was decided that everyone would think in French.

Impossible. The Americans and British thought in two distinct styles of English and tried to translate into French. The Japanese were worse off. They think in Japanese, but write in Chinese ideographs. The Tower of Babel became insurmountable.

Faustian Bowers, who was educated at Hosei University in Tokyo, has a sympathetic understanding of the misunderstandings. Writing in the current "Esquire," he tried to explain to a class of Japanese the meaning of the words "like shaking hands when your hand is already shaking."

Listen, not talk

He fell headfirst into a semantic swamp. Mr. Bowers tried to think Japanese and he learned, to his dismay, that Orientals use our word "understanding" to mean "standing under." To us, communication is friendly dialogue; to them, communication means to "listen."

The word "Hai" (pronounced hi) in Japanese means "yes"; it also means "no." In America, it is a greeting. Words, when strung into sentences, are often designed to conceal, not to reveal thought. A Hindu playwright said, "Turn the mirror upside down and you will see yourself" (rightside up). His meaning escapes me.

When President Nixon left China, he told his hosts with some exuberance: "In a week, we have changed the world." The Chinese have been pondering those words for months. Kawatabi, a Nobel prize-winning novelist, said "Truth is in the discarding of words," but this cannot be true. It sounds like an adroit aphorism, but if we discard all of them we should attain an all-pervading truth.

It isn't so. We attain an all-pervading silence. How may we understand South Vietnamese soldiers who flee for their lives while their Communist brothers to the north fight to the death for what — to live? A contradiction in terms.

We must begin by conceding that we do not understand the Oriental mind, and it does not understand us. That's a beginning. We move from there to the observance of local customs.

In Burma, it is the women who smoke cigars. In China, men wear long cotton gowns, women wear pants. In India, where there is no "Women's Liberation Movement," the premier is a woman, the men cook; the women mix concrete and build the houses.

Bowers tells me that Balinese men squat to urinate; ladies stand. The Japanese fry ice cream. They also eat their fish raw, and they cook oysters. In Indonesia, men dance with each other to prove that they are not homosexual.

Oriental often begin a big meal with a sweet dessert to cut the appetite, and close with a hot soup. The questions are endless and stupefying: What is the color of water, of the wind? If you have no sensitivity whatever, how do you feel? Nothing? Even nothing has substance.

Geishas aren't

The geisha girl was devised to be poised, acquainted with the arts, and for hire by Japanese men — not for sex — but to be warmed up for the wife waiting at home. Since 1945, when the American occupation forces arrived in Japan, all streetwalkers are called "geishas." They aren't.

Is the word "perhaps" a fragile bridge between "yes" and "no"? If so, it is meaningless, because it means neither. In the hopeful halls of the United Nations, the gentlemen speak in the obtuse language of diplomacy and wear headsets to comprehend instant translation.

Language everywhere is a busted crutch. In common tongues, words fall into genders. One seldom hears a man say "adorable; sensational; fantastic." If males and females sharing a language find it difficult to comprehend each other, what chance is there to understand that a Japanese hisses inwardly, not in criticism, but to show that he does not wish to foul your person with his breath? You see? I thought not . . .

Zulu warriors

WASHINGTON — A group of Zulu warriors, getting ready for their world tour as a dance company, has been getting lessons in the subtle art of the cocktail party. All of this has been going on in Durban, South Africa.

The Zulus are only part-time dancers. Their main occupation is working in a chemical factory. Anyway, they do a black, musical version of "Macbeth." However, their lives in Durban and their education, three years of school only, have not prepared them for European and American cocktail parties, to which they'll doubtlessly be invited after performances.

Having a tribe of Zulu warriors around would make any Washington or New York hostess's party, so I'd say their invitations are assured. In the meantime, Prof. Elizabeth Sneddon, of Natal University's drama department, has been teaching them all about the white man's tribal rites.

Dress properly

What they're learning is how to dress properly; the importance of arriving on time; the difference between wine, beer, sherry and highball glasses; why not to yell across the room to a friend; to eat slowly, taking only one dainty sandwich at a time, etc.

If and when the Zulus get to Washington, I will, of course, give them a crash survival course in the Washington cocktail party, which is a bit different from those in the rest of the civilized world. For instance, you can't shout across the room to a friend unless you are a Southern Congressman. Then, everyone will expect you to do it.

Anyone lucky enough to get near the buffet table early in the evening should quickly gobble everything he can, and, if hunger persists, fill his pockets. This is particularly true of the shrimp, as this goes fastest of all. Washington party-goers are the most ravenous on earth and here it's survival of the fittest. One must eat quickly, in self-defense.

Once in front of the shrimp, or roast beef tray, do not simply take a tiny bit and move away. Stay until you've eaten your fill. You will never, ever, be able to crowd back on once you've abandoned your position. Ignore the disapproving looks of the buffet waiter — he ate his fill in the pantry before bringing the food out.

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Communist Bulgaria is Russia's favorite satellite in the Balkans. And, like Russia, Bulgaria interminably lectures the world about the virtues of "socialist morality."

Its puritanical-pretending leaders, however, have turned Bulgaria into a lucrative drug paradise for international narcotics gangsters.

A classified Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) document calls Bulgaria the "new center for directing narcotics and arms trafficking between Western Europe and the Near East." Some of this dope, the CIA believes, winds up on the streets of New York City.

The CIA, whose activities in Communist lands usually involve cloak-and-dagger espionage work, has turned to narcotics investigations in Bulgaria. Its findings are described in a brilliantly written, 38-page report dated last December.

The study, stamped "Confidential," is titled, "The French-Turkish Connection: The Movement of Opium and Morphine Base From Turkey to France."

While the study deals with the narcotics trade throughout Europe, its major surprise is that Bulgaria, whose Marxist morality is legendary in Europe, has become "a safe haven from where major narcotics operations are directed."

"The role of Bulgaria in the field of international narcotics has increased tremendously in the last several years," says the "intelligence memorandum" from the CIA's Office of Strategic Research.

Red heroin trade

"French and UK (British) police officials have also voiced their belief that Bulgarian government officials may be actively involved in selling seized Turkish narcotics to French traffickers."

Ivy presidents speak

The statement on the bombing in Vietnam by the presidents of eight Ivy League colleges, plus Jerry Wiesner of MIT, could scarcely be called surprising. Indeed, it was perfectly predictable; but not, on that account, any the less melancholy.

Let us admit, first of all, that there is a case to be made against the Nixon policy. Why, indeed, shouldn't there be one? It is certainly not impossible that the cost — human, material and political — of pursuing that policy is simply too high.

On the other hand, informed and reasonable men do support the Nixon policy as an appropriate one. After all, an outright invasion has occurred. Strategically, the fate of the Indo-Chinese peninsula seems to be at stake.

An alternative

Would it not have been a refreshing thing, even a startling thing, if one single president in the group of nine had scratched his head and said something like:

"Well, I don't know. It's a tough situation, and it has always been a murky one. And I know anti-war feeling is strong and sometimes loud on the campus. I now read, for example, in the Dartmouth College student paper an editorial describing the policies of the United States government as 'totally reprehensible.' Still, I don't think I can sign that statement. I stick at the sentence 'We therefore deplore the bombings of North Vietnam and its civilian

Health questions

How can cracks in the corners of the mouth be prevented?

Mrs. L., N.D.

Dear Mrs. L.:

Fissures in the corners of the mouth in the elderly may be the result of poorly fitting dentures. A small amount of saliva may accumulate and be a source of irritation that keeps the cracks open. Vitamin deficiencies are often falsely thought to be the cause of this annoying condition when a far simpler one can be found. Lubrication of the lips and the removal of the basic cause are often the total cure.

Is it dangerous to take tranquilizers over a long period of time?

Is it possible to become addicted to these drugs?

Miss E. B. A., R.I.

Dear Miss A.:

All drugs that act as tranquilizers, stimulants or psycho-energizers must be taken with extreme care. Their use should be limited to the prescribed amount and the direction set down by the doctor.

All of these drugs are complex chemicals. Therefore, they affect the body and the mind in a number of ways.

Dependence and addiction are different by definition and by fact. One can grow to be dependent on a tranquilizer that accomplishes the purpose for which it was ordered, namely, to relieve tension.

Markin time

We know that Christianity must have intelligence to train it. It is a false absurdity

If there's no good sense to restrain it.

Luther Markin

While Turkish and Iranian trucks routed through Bulgaria are rigorously inspected, says the CIA document, "Bulgarian trucks hired to haul Turkish cargoes reportedly are normally excluded from inspection."

The document also declares: "If a narcotics smuggler is caught in Bulgaria, he reportedly pays a small fine for the violation and then is given the opportunity to repurchase his seized shipment of narcotics for a certain percentage of its estimated value. The apprehended smuggler thus loses only a small part of his courier's fee and a few hours of his time."

By this means, Bulgaria reaps millions in underworld narcotics money, which indirectly supports the braggadocio of their broadcasts, newspapers and U.N. diplomats about "socialist morality" and the virtues of clean Communist living.

Deadly dirt

Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) officials temporarily blocked one of their most prominent pediatricians from warning the Senate that lead from car exhausts can poison ghetto children.

The pediatrician, Dr. Jane Lin Fu, was contacted by the Senate Environmental subcommittee, now holding hearings on federal standards for lead in the atmosphere.

Dr. Lin Fu cautioned the subcommittee staff that much lead from car exhausts sifts down into city dirt. Since undernourished ghetto youngsters often eat this lead-poisoned dirt, their bodies have far more dangerous lead levels than they would get merely from breathing the air.

At the staff's request, Dr. Lin Fu agreed to write a letter to Sen. Phil Hart, D-Mich., the subcommittee chairman, outlining her fears. She said, however, she would first have to clear her letter with HEW.

population. I just can't sign that. I am not sure I do 'deplore' it. And my information is that every effort is being made to hit military targets. Furthermore, I am disturbed that the statement says nothing about the outright invasion. So count me out, though the war doesn't exactly fill me with joy either."

But no such shockeroo occurred. "All of us personally oppose a policy which seems to be based," and so on.

"Hate Nixon" — Not us

Now, on one level, a sophisticated person realizes that statements of this kind don't have much substance. A college president these days is buffeted by student radicals who may burn down the library and by radical faculty members who can make his life miserable and his tenure brief. One real purpose of statements like this one is to defuse the protest movement, or, at least, make sure the college is not its target. At this level the true sense of the statement is: "Don't hate us, we're nice guys. Hate Nixon if you have to."

Okay. But the trouble is you do keep coming back to the substance.

Everyone knows that nine intelligent people hardly ever achieve seamless unanimity on a complex issue. Policy is always debatable. Yet here before us is this sad lock-step statement issued by men who are accustomed to celebrating intellectual dissent, individually, and so forth. It does not make you angry; only sad.

Unfortunately, there are some people who reason in this specious way: They might say, "If one pill is good, then two pills should be better." Or, they might say, "If one pill twice a day is good, then why not one pill four times a day?"

It is by this lack of discipline that the use of drugs can advance to overuse, and finally, to abuse.

Such reckless misuse can be the forerunner of addiction.

Girl, 8, killed by gunfire

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Gunfire killed an 8-year-old Roman Catholic girl and wounded five persons during a night marked by the worst Protestant rioting in 2-1/2 years, the army said Sunday.

An army spokesman said Rosalea Gavin died instantly in a burst of sniper gunfire while standing outside her home on the Catholic side of Belfast's Old Park Road district shortly after midnight. A man standing nearby was hit in the legs.

The gunfire came from a Catholic street in the area and was aimed in the direction of an army post in nearby Heathfield Road, the spokesman said.

The child was the 317th person killed in Northern Ireland since British troops were sent to the Province in August, 1969, to quell fighting between majority Protestants and minority Catholics.

In other isolated shootings during the night, an army patrol found a 16-year-old girl sprawled in the doorway of her home in the capital's mixed Antrim Road district with gunshot wounds in her stomach. Doctors said her condition was not serious.

Guest at Connally ranch

President drops in for dinner

FLORESVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—President Nixon dropped in for dinner Sunday at the ranch of Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, symbolizing the personal and political friendship between the Republican chief executive and the only Democrat in his cabinet.

The guests for the tenderloin of beef, corn-on-the-cob and black-eyed peas dinner include many of the moneyed Texans who regularly contribute to political candidates, mostly Republicans or conservative Democrats.

Although both Connally and the White House described the event as chiefly social, it looked like the first shot in Nixon's campaign to capture the 28 electoral votes that will be at stake in Texas on Nov. 7.

Nixon won the presidency in 1968 although he lost Texas but the state looms large in his planning for this election year. Only California, New York and Pennsylvania have more electoral votes.

Connally, three times governor of Texas, supported

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey in 1968 but many Democrats think he was less than enthusiastic in his endorsement.

This year, Connally has pledged to uphold the administration economic policy that he helped to form. He also may become an active campaigner for the Nixon ticket.

Although Nixon twice has said he does not wish to break up a winning combination—a clear hint that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will again hold second place on the ticket—rumors persist that Nixon may pick Connally as his running mate.

Connally has said he expects Agnew to be on the ticket again if he wants to be. But the treasury secretary has indicated he would accept the second spot if it were offered.

Although Connally is frequently absent, his 3,500-acre Pecos is a full time working ranch. It is stocked with several hundred head of Santa Gertrudis cattle plus a few longhorns and long-haired Scottish Highlanders.

the elegant village green with its bandstand, fountains and formal gardens, you could watch the passing parade on the broad esplanade. School girls, still in their blue and white uniforms, followed by boys and young sailors and soldiers.

Young mothers and fathers pushing high prambulators trimmed with lace and immaculate babies and elegant youngsters, old men walking arm in arm and twirling their worry heads, old ladies dressed in black, keeping up with their knitting and gossip at the same time on the benches along the way.

Nobody, evidently, was home watching television or tucked away in lonely seclusion, or rushing to keep appointments or being entertained, except by each other and the passing throng.

per pound — half the calories of many other steaks! And low in fat means low in cholesterol!

But do be sure your "minute steaks" are round or sirloin tip — not shoulder or chuck. Any other cut is likely to be far fattier and disappointingly un-tender!

Here's how to turn a minute steak into a sublimely sophisticated dish. And it's all made in one skillet — steak, mushrooms; sauce and all!

"SKINNY STEAK" WITH WINE

AND MUSHROOM SAUCE

1 1/2 pounds lean round or sirloin tip (minute steaks)

1 tablespoon salad oil

1 tablespoon flour

8 ounce can of sliced mushrooms, including liquid

1/2 cup Chianti (or any very dry red wine)

1/4 teaspoon poultry seasoning

Garlic salt and pepper

Heat the oil in a nonstick skillet (one tablespoon is all you need; don't add any more!). Pan-fry the steaks quickly over high heat;

New York's Voice of Broadway

NEW YORK — Marcello Mastroianni's French divorce so he can wed pregnant Catherine Deneuve still will leave him with a legal wife and family in Italy where French divorce isn't recognized. Capt. Paradise stuff... Woody Allen's a little guy so it's fate that Reader's Digest's mini-profiling him... Voiceover specialist Len Maxwell's latest assignment: taping the voice of a talking doll.

"The Little Black Book," starring Richard Benjamin and Delphine Seyrig, opened at the Helen Hayes Theatre with one charmingly empty first act, then author Jean-Claude Carriere (Jerome Kilty Americanized it but forgot the comedy) ran out of plot... Richard Benjamin (of "Goodbye, Columbus" fame) has a pleasant relaxed-victim style; Delphine has an attractive French aggressiveness (she plays a stranger who simply turns up in Benjamin's one-room Village flat and stays, and stays, and stays, and she shouldn't really have stayed for the second act; nor should we).

Myrna Loy decorated the "Black Book" first night; so did mystery writer Noel Behn, the gal with him no mystery — Michelle Lerner, Alan Jay Lerner's alimony-rich ex... Richard Harris at the Essex House said he's adapted a "Hamlet" version he'll attempt sometime.

Former Detroit Lion John Gordy will miss being a June groom by one day: He'll wed New Jersey beauty Jean DeMeritt July 1. Second time around for both. John's now president of Visual Sounds Films... Denim's gone royal blue: Princess Anne's sporting denim suits... White House flash! There's a new dog sister at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. Frank Switzer is the new pup-petter; the incumbent multi-minder (since Pres. Ike) just retired.

Gregory Peck says hereon he'll only produce films...

Patrons at Fuffy's in Brooklyn (yes, Virginia, there is a Brooklyn Fuffy's) aren't used to stars in their midst, but Shirley MacLaine dined there. Then off to a preview of her "The Possession of Joel Delaney" at Loew's Flatbush. Shail also lives in Brooklyn. So does her latest writer (she's an ink-freak) in residence, Pete Hamill.

Henny Youngman was aboard the storm-tossed Queen Elizabeth in its seasonal maiden voyage to London. Henny laughed up a storm to Blighty where he taped a British TV special, "The Henny Youngman Open End," with all English comics... King Hussein of Jordan took the Palm Beach social bit in his teeth.

GH learned Mary Sanford, wife of ill Laddie Sanford of carpet and polo fame, has a mere nine in help, plus 15 dogs, several trained just to guard Mrs. Sanford's diamonds... Nifty piece about a way of life presumably dying — but alive and kicking in Palm Beach, at least. Sigh!

Ann Landers

Everyone's sick

Dear Ann Landers: Our 13-year-old daughter weighs 175 pounds. She could pass for 18. My problem is her father. He has an unnatural interest in this child. He insists that she wear short, short dresses, which I think look awful because of her size. He is always pawing her, pulling her on his lap, kissing and petting her in a way that goes beyond fatherly affection. I have mentioned this to him several times and he accuses me of being jealous. Ann, I am not jealous. I am worried.

Lately he has insisted that she stay up when we entertain friends — even on school nights. He says he likes to watch the way she conducts herself in the presence of adults. A few weeks ago he bought some rock records and asked her to dance for him. When I see this pathetically overweight child prancing around in those scanty skirts it makes me sick. I need some advice.

No City, No State, No Initials

Dear N.: If you are sick, that makes three in the family. The child's weight suggests that she is disturbed. Start there. Take her to a physician at once and get her on a diet. Ask the doctor to recommend a therapist for the child. Also ask him to meet with your husband to discuss the girl's problems, and at the close of the discussion, he should recommend a doctor for him. If he resists help for himself, insist that he at least permit the girl to have it. She's going to be out-of-this-world, in more ways than one, if something isn't done soon.

Dear Ann Landers: Last night was one of the most uncomfortable evenings of my life. If you say I am over-reacting, I'll stand back and take another look.

My husband and I were invited to the home of some good friends. We have known this couple for many years and always enjoyed them. After about an hour of lively conversation on politics, sex, local problems, and other people, the host hauled out a hidden tape recorder which had taken down everything that had been said. He proceeded to play it back to us. I was horrified. My husband was speechless. Then they brought out tapes of other conversations which had been recorded in the same surreptitious manner. We recognized the voices of friends. The whole experience was not only creepy but infuriating.

When my husband and I left, we bid them a cool goodnight. They said we were hypersensitive, poor sports and humorless. Are we? What is your opinion of such an evening? Would you return to the home of such "friends?" Taped in Punta Gorda, Florida

Dear Taped: Return? I wouldn't accept the first invitation if I knew who they were. People who would pull such a stunt could hardly be called friends.

An American team composed of George Rapee, John R. Crawford, Sam Stayman, Howard Schenken, and this writer traveled to Naples in 1961 to play the Italian team for the world championship. The U.S. team won by 10,000 points.

Frederico Rosa, of Italy, wrote a long and interesting account for the European Bridge Review, a portion of which is presented here with all its continental flavor retained. It features a hand where the American team gained 720 points.

Said Rosa: "I witnessed many mistakes by the Americans during the tournament. On many boards they pressed the bidding level beyond the possible. They were apt to overrate their technique, hoping for miracles in the play. But I must state that I have been unable to find a single board among the 320 where their defensive play was not exact, not to say perfect. This is an example of beautiful defense.

"At both tables South was in four hearts. Stayman easily made the contract after Forquet led the seven of diamonds. At the other table, however, Becker (West) led a trump and started a fine defensive play.

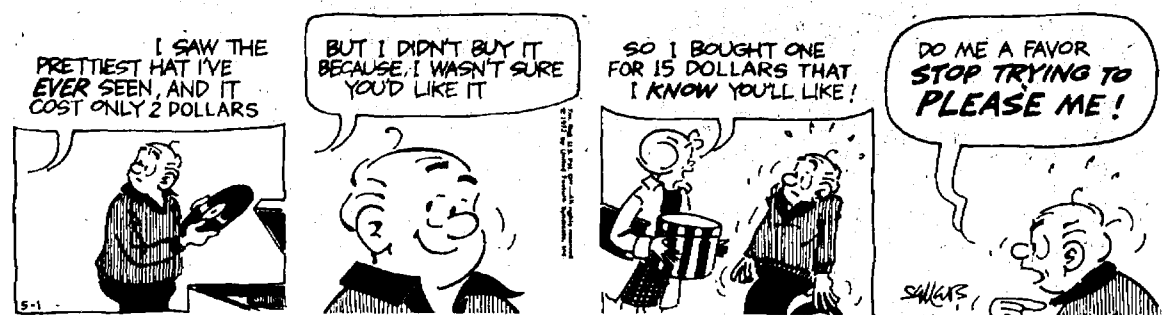

"Franco won in the closed hand and led a spade to dummy's jack. A low spade to the queen in the closed hand was taken by the ace and a trump returned. Franco again won in the closed hand and led a club to dummy's ace.

"South's club loser disappeared on the king of spades and a low diamond was led from dummy. Crawford coolly played low and it is not to be surprised at that Franco contented himself with the eight. Many of us would have done the same. This trick of Crawford's enabled West to make the nine and since Becker had a trump to lead, declarer had to lose two more tricks in diamonds.

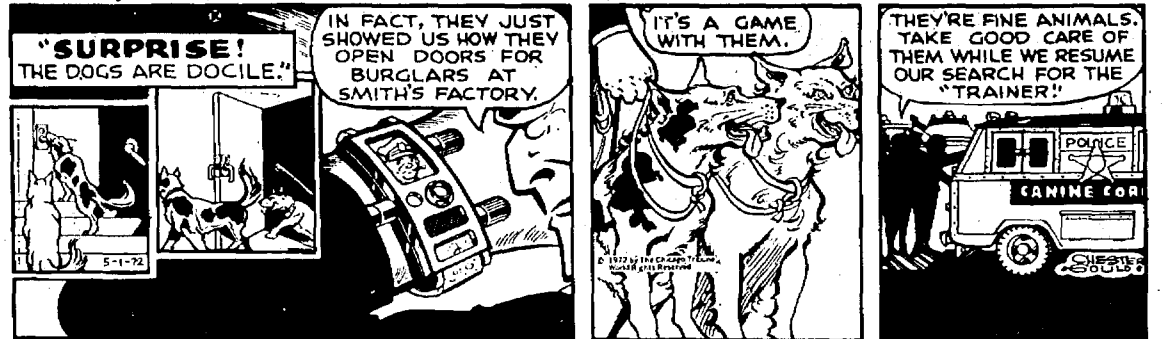

"Franco should not be blamed for not putting up the queen of diamonds but the Americans are worth all the praise for their skillful and audacious defense."

CONSUMER'S NOTICE

Six mail order houses in New York allegedly don't worry about the spring or Christmas rush, warns Bess Myerson. In fact, the six don't rush at all to deliver goods on time, claims the New York City consumer affairs commissioner.

The six are:

Alexanders Sales Corp., Mount Vernon — hawking a variety of goods, including weight-reducing belts, telephones, instant oxygen.

Austin Crown, Ltd., 509 Madison Ave. — pearls.

Colonial Gift Shop, White Plains and Colonial Studios — gifts and novelties.

Information Inc., 200 Madison Ave. — consumer oriented books.

Publishers Central Bureau, 381 Park Ave. South — books and records.

Unifclub, Inc., 15 W. 38th St. — records.

Miss Myerson charged the companies "consistently disappoint consumers by non-delivery, late delivery and delivery of damaged or defective merchandise."

Q. — Our baby cut himself on the sharp keys of an xylophone he was given as a gift. I was astonished when I examined the toy and realized just how sharp it was. Is there any legal inspecting of toys to determine their safety for use by children?

G.G., Saylorsburg

A. — The Food and Drug Administration's Bureau of Product Safety has a Toys Review Committee that oversees marketed toys and bans the hazardous ones. A list of banned toys can be obtained through them in care of the Food and Drug Administration, 5401 Westbard Ave., Bethesda, Md. Also, the Federal Hazardous Substance Act provided that if a banned toy has been sold, whether or not it was banned at the time of its sale, a refund can be obtained.

Q. — At the corner of Eighth and Phillips Streets, Stroudsburg, the homeowner has two evergreen trees that block the view of driver's attempting to turn onto Phillips. I have seen two near accidents. Can the owner be made to remove these trees before someone has a fatal accident?

A.H., Stroudsburg

A. — The borough is aware of the problem and action has been taken to rectify the situation. Indications are no one will have to be forced to remove the trees. The owner of the property agreed to have the trees moved this winter if he could be guaranteed they would continue to grow. Of course the winter is not the best time to move trees so action was delayed. Now the weather is more conducive to growth and transplanting and the borough will again ask the property owner for permission to remove the trees. Keep an eye on this one. The work is supposed to be done this week.

Former ESSC president receives honor award

EAST STROUDSBURG — Dr. Frank D. Sills, professor of physical education at East Stroudsburg State College, was one of four persons to receive the Eastern District Association honor award of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Sills received the award at the 1972 meeting of the association held earlier this month at Kiamesha Lake, N.Y.

During the past 25 years, Sills has served as chairman of more than 20 committees at the state, district and national levels of the AAHPER and American College of Sports Medicine.

He has presented more than 100 papers at various state, district, national and international meetings.

Additionally, he has served in many appointed and elected positions in professional societies. Among the more important positions he has held are secretary-treasurer and president of the Central District of the AAHPER, vice president and president of the Eastern District Association, and treasurer and member of the board of trustees of the American College of Sports Medicine.

Among his many honors, Sills has received the honor awards from the Central District Association, the Ohio State AAHPER Association and the Pennsylvania State AAHPER.

He is a recipient of the American Red Cross Citation, the Optimist International (District 9) recognition award, and has been cited by Phi Epsilon Kappa as a "Noteworthy Person in the Profession."

He has contributed widely to the literature particularly in the areas of exercise physiology, fitness and strength training, therapeutic exercise and adapted physical education.

He has contributed more than 30 published articles to the research literature and was a contributing author to four books. He has also edited several monographs including the Sports Skills Test Series of the AAHPER.

Sills served as president of ESSC from mid 1968 to August of last year.

He joined the college faculty in 1959 after having served at the State University of Iowa. Locally he was head of the physical education department and served as the first director of graduate studies at the college from 1961 to 1964.

County welfare bill soars in fiscal 1971

STROUDSBURG — In line with increasing relief rolls throughout the state, the number of employable persons on relief has increased in Monroe County.

At the end of the past year it stood at 121 as compared with 29 a year earlier.

This means the number of employable Monroe Countians on relief per 1,000 population climbed from 0.6 to 2.7 during the year, according to a report by the state Department of Public Welfare.

Of the 121 employables in the county drawing public assistance, 67 were receiving aid to dependent children and 54 were receiving general assistance.

Of the 121 employables, department records show 40 were employed full-time and six part-time, while the "degree of employability" between handicapped and non-handicapped placed 51 in the handicapped category and 70 in the non-handicapped category.

In a related disclosure, the department also indicated Monroe County had a monthly average of 1,517 county residents on relief during the past fiscal year at a cost of $2,001,475 for the 12-month span.

Expressed another way, 3.3 percent of the county population on the average each month was drawing public assistance — as compared with 2.4 per cent a year earlier and a monthly average 1,119 relief recipients.

The department report shows that of the 1,517 monthly average for the past fiscal year, 120 were classified as drawing old age assistance grants, 42 blind pensions, 1,150 aid-to-dependent children assistance, 99 general assistance and 106 aid-to-disabled benefits.

Costwise, the $2,001,475 expenditure for public assistance in the county during the past year compares with $1,505,014 expended the preceding year.

Broken down into three basic categories, the cost of assistance grants for relievers in the county climbed from $807,679 to $1,142,224, while medical and burial costs went on the upswing from $595,199 to $727,253, and costs of administration of the public assistance program in the county climbed from $102,136 to $131,992 — the latter figure representing a per capita cost for Monroe County of $44.06.

In Pike County, an average of 193 county residents were on relief during the past fiscal year, representing 1.6 per cent of the county population.

The relief cost total of $259,701 was broke down as follows (with the preceding year in parenthesis): direct assistance grants — $168,619 ($158,654); medical and burial costs — $60,160 ($41,199); cost of administering the public assistance program in Pike County — $30,922 ($21,353).

Nationwide, American's total federal, state and local welfare bill soared to a record $17.73 billion in 1971, the Health, Education and Welfare Department (HEW) said recently.

That figure included all the money spent by federal, state and local governments for Medicaid, aid to needy families, the aged, blind and disabled and local relief. It was $3.39 billion higher than the 1970 spending total.

The federal share of the 1971 welfare bill was $9.13 billion.

HEW's administrator of social and rehabilitation services, John D. Twinn, issued a statement with the newest report that said, "The figures speak eloquently for the need for welfare reform — to provide a more national system for taxpayers and recipients alike."

Head Start fills part of care gap

EAST STROUDSBURG — With the future of day care clouded, Monroe County's Head Start program may be the only avenue open to children attempting to break from a cycle of poverty.

The Head Start program at East Stroudsburg State College currently enrolls 30 students from ages three up to kindergarten. Although it serves a similar age group as the day care program, Head Start has some differences built into its structure.

Those eligible for Head Start qualify on the basis of income level and family size. It is aimed primarily at the poverty level client, but federal standards allow for 10 per cent enrollment above the poverty level.

Mrs. Johanna Weaver, director of Head Start, said the 10 per cent is allowed by the federal government because it is thought a balanced enrollment is better than just running a program for children who are culturally and socially underprivileged.

Mrs. Weaver has been the director of the Head Start program since February. She said the program in Monroe County has never really been strong enough to toll great success in breaking children from a line of poverty handed down from past generations.

Head Start is specifically intended to make up for the deprivation with which impoverished children enter school, according to Mrs. Weaver.

She said one of the greatest needs found among the Head Start students is language development and familiarity with printed material.

"Without Head Start the parents of the underprivileged would be unable to give their child an equal opportunity for achievement with other children," Mrs. Weaver said.

Haven't people broken themselves out of poverty without programs like Head Start in the past?

"I'm sure there are people that have been able to break themselves out of poverty cycles," Mrs. Weaver concedes, "but before there was greater opportunity to break yourself out."

She said the increased emphasis on more qualifications and skills to get through life mandates a program like Head Start for those not fortunate enough to have the opportunity of the middle income levels.

"Head Start is not just a pre-school program for the child," Mrs. Weaver maintains. "It is meant to involve the whole child, the whole family and the whole community."

She said the examples of this involvement could be seen in the way local businesses have responded to the program, providing materials and field tours for the Head Start children.

Mrs. Weaver also thinks the Monroe County Head Start program is unique because of the close cooperation with East Stroudsburg State College, which provides staff for the program.

But it is not a complete substitute for a Day Care program, according to the director. Mrs. Weaver said Head Start caters to a different age level than Day Care programs and runs four hours a day — not sufficient for a working mother.

There is also a difference in the budgets of the two programs.

Head Start, serving 30 youngsters, runs on an annual budget of $12,519. The Day Care proposal recently struck down offered service to 45 children for an annual tax stab of $100,000.

Cyclist sustains injuries

SCOTRUN — A young man from Whitehall is listed in good condition at the General Hospital of Monroe County after his motorcycle collided with an auto and a trailer under tow in front of the Scotrun Inn on Route 611 in Scotrun Sunday.

Douglas Delabar suffered a broken leg and numerous abrasions and contusions after colliding with the rear of an auto turning left from the southbound lane of the highway and then into the side of a camping trailer being towed by a vehicle in the right lane.

Pocono Township Police Sgt. Danny Harnden said Delabar was thrown from the cycle and slid face-down on the pavement for a distance. He said the rider's helmet was split down the middle but saved Delabar from serious head injuries.

The driver of the auto, Margaret Allen of Mountain-top and the driver of the station wagon towing the camper, James Kilcoin, of Middletown, N.Y., both escaped injury.

Damage to the car was estimated at $200 and the camper at $100. The 1970 motorcycle suffered approximately $300 damage.

Inflation takes blame for rise

County housing costs spiral

Special to the Record

STROUDSBURG — In Monroe County, for home owners and for apartment dwellers alike, housing costs have been on an upward spiral in the last ten years, the figures show.

The home owners in the local area — there are 10,273 of them — have been confronted with bigger and bigger bills for fuel, repairs, taxes and the like.

For the 4,401 families who are living in rental units, costs have been zooming similarly. They have seen their rents rise from a median of $52 a month to $75 in the last ten years. This is exclusive of the cost of utilities and fuel.

For half of them, the rents have been lower than those contract amounts and, for the other half, higher.

The facts and figures are from data compiled by the Commerce Department in connection with the latest Census of Housing.

They show how rentals in Monroe County have been moving as compared with the changes that have been taking place in other parts of the country.

In the local area the rental increase in the ten-year period was 44 per cent, according to the findings. Elsewhere in the United States the rise amounted to 55 per cent, on average. In the Middle Atlantic States it was 52 per cent and, in the State of Pennsylvania, 45 per cent.

By the same token, for those who have been buying homes, prices went up sharply in the period. In Monroe County, the median value of occupied homes climbed 55 per cent.

Inflation was the culprit. Because housing is the most heavily weighted component of the Consumer Price Index, it has been a principal victim of the rising costs. It has had to cope with bigger fuel and electric bills, with tax hikes, with higher insurance rates and with increases in other operating expenses.

Because of the growing concentration of people in urban and suburban areas, the price of land has been pushed higher and higher. The economic pressure upon builders, therefore, has been to stack family units upward rather than to produce one-family homes far from job centers.

Monroe County families, for the most part, have been able to take the rising costs in stride. Their incomes, since 1960, have gone up 54 per cent, on average, the figures show.

Pocono firemen battle three fires in three hours

TANNERSVILLE — The Pocono Township Volunteer Fire Department was kept busy with brush fire alarms Sunday, answering three calls in three hours during the afternoon.

The first was reported at Fishs Hill Road, east of Tannersville which involved a small brushy area afire. Three trucks and 25 men responded to the blaze which was believed to have been started by nearby burning refuse.

The second call came in at 1:15 p.m. from Ski Haven in Tannersville. Approximately one acre of woodland was burned, again believed to have started from someone burning debris.

The fire fighters were assisted in extinguishing the blaze by the State Bureau of Forestry helicopter and were at the scene for about one hour.

The third call came at approximately 3 p.m. and was reported as another brush fire on Babbling Brook Road in Scotrun. Four trucks and 25 men put the fire out in about 30 minutes. No cause for the blaze was immediately determined.

Pocono Township Fire Chief William Raish said, "This is the time of year when the woods are most apt to burn from carelessness." He said extreme caution should be exercised when handling fires of any kind.

A spokesman from the Marshalls Creek Fire Department had similar remarks Sunday, saying "the woods are just too dry at this time of year and the people don't take the proper precautions to control fires."

"They can't control it with a pail of water and a shovel. They don't realize how fast a fire spreads back in the woods. We would like all persons who plan to burn to notify us in advance," said the spokesman.

Workshop scheduled

STROUDSBURG — Another in a series of local government workshops will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Stroud Township Municipal Building.

The workshop is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service. Speakers will be Larry S. Turosey, planning engineer with the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation, and Mrs. Peter O'Brien, of the League of Women Voters, speaking on home rule and boundary changes.

This safeguards against false alarms reported by neighbors and passing motorists when they see the fire and also gives the firemen a chance to point out safety tips to the potential burner or advise against burning if the conditions are unfavorable.

These comments came after the Marshalls Creek firefighters spent Saturday and Sunday responding to grass fires in the area, two of which were the result of "controlled" burning.

One fire Saturday required the presence of three trucks and 15 men. About one acre at the East Stroudsburg R.D. 2 scene was burned. The cause was cited as nearby burning rubbish.

At noontime Sunday they were called to Pocono Highland Lake Estates to fight a fire in two acres of woodland. Three trucks and 25 men extinguished that blaze, again caused by someone burning debris.

At 4 p.m. they were called out to Leisure Lands development to battle a three acre fire which they believe may have been started by children. Three trucks and 27 men were assisted in the firefighting chore by the State Bureau of Forestry helicopter and a crew from the Dancing Ridge Fire Tower.

Blaze routs employees

TANNERSVILLE — Fire destroyed a building at Camp Lindemere in Tannersville Saturday night and knocked out power and telephone service to some area residents for more than four hours.

The wooden frame structure, located on Route 715 about one mile east of Tannersville, was being used to house six male employees of the camp. All six had just moved into the building earlier in the day and lost all of their personal belongings in the fire.

Pocono Township Fire Chief William Raish said five trucks and 25 men were at the scene from 6:45 p.m. until approximately 9:30 p.m. Saturday. Traffic using the road had to be re-routed for the rest of the evening and into the early hours of Sunday morning while fire trucks and power and telephone workmen were at the scene.

Chief Raish said the entire building was engulfed in flames when the firefighting equipment arrived and most of the efforts exerted by the men were aimed at protecting several other buildings near the burning structure. All occupants of the building were evacuated safely.

The one story building was estimated a total loss and Chief Raish "hesitated" to make a statement concerning the origin of the fire.

Camp Lindemere is a youth camp operated by a Philadelphia based company for children of that area.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Little Gail Goodrich scored 31 points and Goliath Wilt Chamberlain collected 23 points and 23 rebounds as the Los Angeles Lakers evened their National Basketball Association championship series, beating the New York Knicks Sunday 106-92.

With Happy Hairston leading the way with 12 of his 15 points, the Lakers outscored the Knicks 28-11 in the third quarter to move into a 79-61 lead.

The clubs now go to New York for games No. 3 and 4 Wednesday and Friday nights.

The fifth contest of the best-of-seven series will be here at the Forum Sunday night.

Goodrich kept the Lakers in the first half. Ahead by one at the intermission, the Lakers went on an 8-0 blitz in the opening 3:09 of the second half for a 59-50 lead. In a 2:13 span later in the third quarter, Los Angeles went on another 8-0 tear with Hairston getting six of the points. That put the Lakers in front 75-58 with 2:31 left in the third period.

New York staged a mild comeback in the last quarter getting to within 10 points on three occasions. The last time was with 1:43 to go at 100-90 but Jerry West, Goodrich and Chamberlain then pulled away with one basket each.

New York was led by Walt Frazier with 21 points but the smooth Knicks' guard was held to three in the second half. Bill Bradley and reserve Phil Jackson each had 18 for the Knicks while Jerry Lucas sank 16.

For the Lakers, West had 15, the same as Hairston while Jim McMillan chipped in with 11.

Casper holds 1-shot lead in Bryon Nelson tourney

DALLAS (UPI)—Billy Casper snaked in birdie putts of 30 and 12 feet and pitched over a trap to within five feet for a saving par putt on the back nine Sunday for a 36-33-69 to stay one shot in front of the Byron Nelson Golf Classic field with an eight-under-par 202.

The 40-year-old Californian lost his second round lead early on the day's tour to Canadian Wilf Homenuik, but kept plugging away with pars and came up with the key birdies that shoved him back in front when Homenuik stumbled to a triple bogey on the par-4 17th and finished with 34-37-71 and a five-under 205.

Bailey Bruins' 'Ace' in hole

BOSTON (UPI)—Ace Bailey slammed in a short shot from the corner of the crease with 2:16 left in the game Sunday afternoon to give the Boston Bruins, who led at one point by 5-1, a narrow 6-5 victory over the stubborn New York Rangers in the first game of their championship series for the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup.

The Bruins led 5-1 with 10:46 gone in the second period when Hodge slammed in his third goal of the game from a short angle, but New York roared back with the next four goals to tie the game on Bruce MacGregor's short-side 10-footer at 9:17 of the final period.

The other New York goals in the surge came from Rod Gilbert at 11:54 of the second period, Vic Hatfield at 1:46 of the last period and Walt Tkaczuk at the 7:48 mark.

Defenseman Dale Rolfe gave the Rangers a brief 1-0 lead at 3:52 of the first period with a slapshot from the point, but Fred Stanfield tied the game for Boston with a 20-footer at 5:07.

Hodge got his first goal of the game on a shot from the corner of the crease at 15:48 of the first period while Giacomin was playing without a stick to put the Bruins in front 2-1.

Sanderson and Hodge scored shorthanded goals 45 seconds apart at 17:29 and 18:14 of the opening stanza as the Bruins moved to a 4-1 advantage.

Sanderson's goal was the sixth shorthanded goal of his playoff career, tying him with teammate Ed Westfall and Toronto's Dave Keon for the record in that department.

Orr was credited with his 16th assist in this year's playoff on Hodge's third goal, tying the old record for one season set by Jean Beliveau of Montreal last year.

New York defenseman Gary Doak was ejected from the game at 18:45 of the first period when he was called for elbowing Hodge, received a 10-minute misconduct penalty for arguing about the call and was slapped with a game misconduct when he continued his protest.

Buckhorns cop lead in Wayne

FOREST CITY — Ed Dalrymple's two runs batted in backed five-hit pitching by two Wallenpaupack hurlers Saturday as the Buckhorns beat Forest City, 4-1, to take over first place in the Wayne County League.

Wallenpaupack is now 4-0 in the league while Forest City is 3-1.

Dalrymple's double in the second inning drove in Kevin Gilpin to give the Buckhorns a 1-0 lead. Brad Bidwell's homer in the third made it 2-0.

After Jim Warner doubled, Dalrymple singled him home in the third for a 3-0 margin. Dalrymple, who started the game, was replaced by Mike Bartleson, who lost the shutout in the sixth on two walks and a single.

Wallenpaupack's final run came in the seventh when Mike Dux got on through an error and Dan Pethick singled.

Warriors sweep pair from King's

EAST STROUDSBURG — Southpaws Tom Felzer and Joe Papi each hurled three-hitters and Tom Bedies continued his fine hitting as East Stroudsburg State College swept a baseball doubleheader from King's College, 1-0 and 13-2, Saturday.

Felzer struck out five batters and didn't walk any in the opener in running his unscored upon string to 13 innings. Papi was in trouble in the early innings, but then settled down in coasting to the second game win.

Bedies reached base seven of eight times at bat during the doubleheader with three hits and four walks. The little

Savage passes Indy frosh test

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—California Swede Savage Sunday became the first rookie to become eligible to attempt to gain a spot in the 500-mile auto race.

Savage of Santa Ana—the former protégé of Dan Gurney—breezed through his 20-lap rookie refresher test during Sunday's practice period as six other cars made appearances on the speedway oval.

The 170-miles per hour speed limit imposed by Chief Steward Harlan Flegler remained in effect and was not expected to be lifted before at least Tuesday.

Savage posted the quick unofficial speed of the day at 164.775 mph. He was followed by Steve Krisloff of Parsippany, N.J., with a 163.785.

Other drivers out on the track were rookies Mike Hiss of Tustin, Calif., and John Mahler of Bettendorf, Iowa, and veteran Dick Simon of Salt Lake City. A year ago Mahler was removed from the car he qualified for the race by car-owner Simon and therefore is still considered a rookie.

The speedway practice which started Saturday leads up to the two weekends of time trials to determine starting positions for the May 27 race. The first two days are set for May 13-14 followed a week later by the last two days.

Long ties year's best in javelin

PHILADELPHIA — Ed Long of East Stroudsburg State College tied his season's best throw of 223-5 in finishing sixth in the championship javelin division of the Penn Relays Saturday.

Jim George of Maryland topped the field of 13 competitors in the championship with a throw of 245-10. All the other 46 javelin throwers competing were classified in a college division which was won with a throw of 221-4.

Mattie Render, a physical education instructor at ESSC, won the women's 100-yard dash in a time of 10.7. Miss Render was a Pan-American Games champion and is regarded as a contender for a position on the United States' Olympic team.

Phillies gain sweep behind Champion

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Right-hander Billy Champion hit his first major league home run to touch off a three-run fifth inning and went on to scatter eight hits as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated San Diego 3-1 in the second game of a doubleheader after topping the Padres 6-1 in the opener.

Champion's complete game effort on top of a similar performance by Barry Lersch was the fourth in a row by a Philadelphia pitcher.

Now 2-0, Champion hit his homer off starter and loser Mike Corkins to lead off the fifth inning after the Padres scored a run in the previous inning.

Larry Bowa walked following the homer and advanced to third on Tim McCarver's single to right. Willie Montanez scored Bowa on a sacrifice fly and Greg Luzinski, hitting in his sixth straight game, singled McCarver to third from where he trotted across with the third run of the inning on Don Money's single to left.

San Diego's run in the fourth resulted from Leon Lee's leadoff double and Nate Colbert's single. Colbert has an eight-straight hitting streak going.

Carew enables Minnesota to gain split with Yanks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rod Carew's two-run bases-loaded single in the eighth inning gave Minnesota a 5-4 victory Sunday after the New York Yankees snapped the Twins' six-game win streak in the opener, 5-4 on rookie Rusty Torres' ninth-inning pinch double.

With the score tied 3-3, George Mitterwald led off the eighth inning of the nightcap for the Twins with a single and was safe at second when reliever Fred Beene threw high to second baseman Horace Clarke on pinch-hitter Carlos Monzon's tapper to the mound. Beene then loaded the bases by hitting Cesar Tovar with a pitch and was removed after retiring the next batter. But Carew slammed reliever Jim Roland's first pitch as a Yankee into left field to score Mitterwald and Monzon with the go-ahead runs.

Johnny Ellis got the Yanks on the scoreboard in the second game when he homered with none aboard in the second inning. The Yanks scored again in the same inning when Gene Michael walked and pitcher Mike Kekich pumped a triple all the way to the center field wall.

Harris poll reveals ITT affair disinterest

By LOUIS HARRIS

In a test of credibility concerning the recent Congressional hearings involving ITT, 38 per cent of those who followed the case tended to believe the charges made by columnist Jack Anderson, while 24 per cent were inclined to believe the Justice Department's denials.

However, among those who were aware of the case, 11 per cent did not believe anyone, and 27 per cent more were unable to come to any conclusions. In all, only 59 per cent of the public paid attention to the ITT controversy, despite its wide exposure in the press and on television.

When the entire public was asked whether Richard Kleindienst should be confirmed by the U.S. Senate as Attorney General, a plurality, 32-26 per cent, felt that he should not, with 42 per cent simply not sure.

Thus, it can be concluded that by a relatively narrow margin, the ITT case should be viewed as a set-back for the Nixon Administration, although it does not appear to have become the political bombshell some Democrats hoped it might. As might be expected, the division of public opinion over the case ran sharply along partisan lines.

Just before the hearings were concluded, the Harris Survey asked a cross section of 2,973 households: "Have you read or heard about the ITT Corporation anti-trust case, in which the case was settled out of court at the same time ITT was supposed to be pledging $400,000 for the Republican convention in San Diego?"

HEARD ABOUT ITT CASE

Total
Public

Did not follow 41

Those who had heard or read about the ITT case were then asked this question: "Columnist Jack Anderson has charged that the ITT case was a fix by the Nixon Justice Department — to let ITT off in return for a contribution to the San Diego Republican convention. Former Attorney General John Mitchell and Acting Attorney General Kleindienst have denied these charges, claiming they are not based on any real evidence. Whom do you tend to believe in the ITT anti-trust case, columnist Jack Anderson or Attorney Generals Mitchell and Kleindienst?"

Jack Anderson's story met with greatest credibility among people who live on the East and West Coasts, city and suburban dwellers, young people under 30, the college-educated, those with incomes over $10,000, Democrats, and independents. In general, the more affluent and better-educated groups both followed the case more closely and were more inclined to believe Anderson's charges. To the extent that these groups are swing voters in the 1972 election, the ITT case can be said to have somewhat damaged the Nixon Administration politically.

Defenders of the Justice Department's position could be found chiefly among Republicans, older people, those living in smaller towns and rural areas, and in the border states and the deep South.

Then the entire cross section was asked: "From what you know or have heard, do you think Richard Kleindienst should be confirmed as Attorney General by the U.S. Senate or not?"

KLEINDIENST CONFIRMATION

Total
Public
Per cent

Should be confirmed 26
Should not be confirmed 32

By a small margin, the weight of public opinion was against confirmation of Kleindienst by the Senate. Again, the division was sharply political with Republicans over 2-to-1 in favor and Democrats almost 2-to-1 opposed. However, the pivotal independent voter group was nearly 2-to-1 in opposition to the appointment.

The sharply partisan nature of public reaction to the ITT case can be seen in the following analysis in relation to voter preferences for Presidential candidates:

IMPACT BY VOTER PREFERENCE

Version Believed:	Anderson's per cent	Justice Dept.'s per cent	Neither per cent	Not Sure Per Cent
Voting for:
Humphrey	56	17	30	28
Nixon	21	71	48	45
Wallace	15	9	13	19
Not sure	8	3	9	8

As might be expected, among people who believed the Justice Department's denials, President Nixon holds a wide edge in the voting. However, Sen. Humphrey easily wins the vote of people who were persuaded that the Anderson charges were valid. The difference is made up by the 38 per cent who believed neither side or were unable to draw a definitive judgment. Among these groups, President Nixon maintains a wide lead.

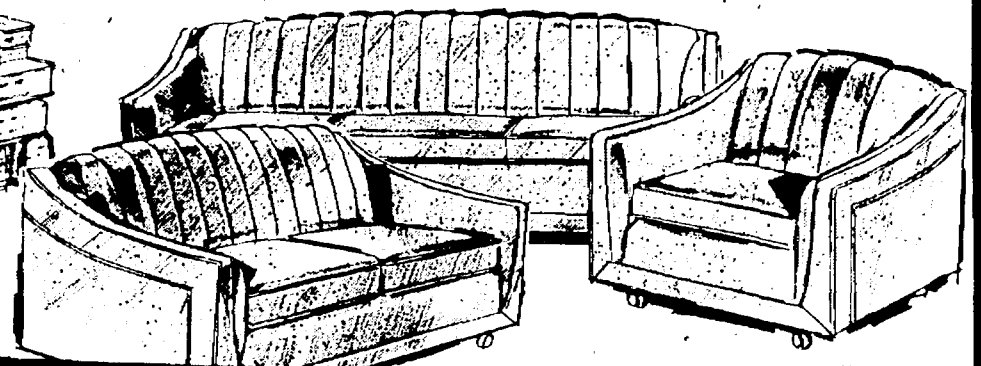

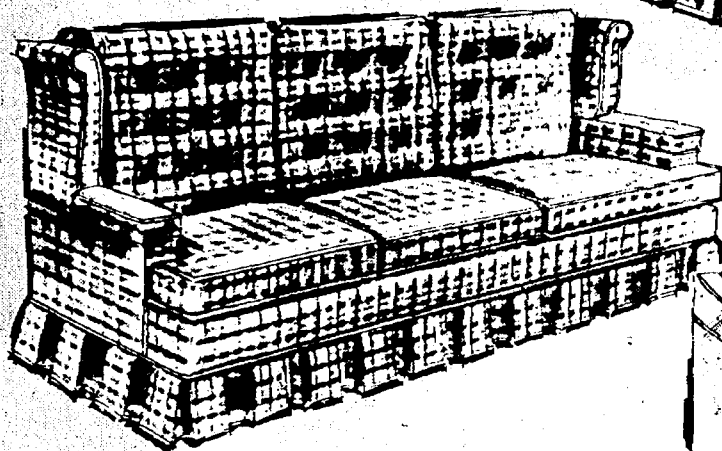

The net result of the case, therefore, is that unless people believed the original Anderson charges, most of the remainder of the public was inclined to give the Nixon Administration the benefit of the doubt.

However, it is a safe bet that the ITT case will be echoed throughout this fall's political campaign, for it will add fuel to expected Democratic charges that the Republican incumbents are "too close" to big business.

Love beats fear

By Jean Adams

SCARED IN ADVANCE: (Q.) I have a terrible problem. I am 17 and in a few years may be married. Well, I love children but I am scared to have sexual intercourse. I am just frightened terribly.

I'm also afraid of having a baby. Is there much pain? Please help me!
Not Looking Forward to It in Florida

(A.) It is pretty plain to me that you have never been really in love. This is all right, because there is no hurry.

When you do find love, you will discover that fear vanishes and expectation, even eagerness, takes its place.

SHUT OFF: (Q.) My brother is 27. He lives in his own apartment. He worries about everybody and everything — especially the world.

Yesterday Mom and I went to see him. As usual he was worrying and complaining. He complained about Mom and she accused me of agreeing with him, but I did not.

Since then, she hasn't said anything to me, except that I don't care about her. She won't let me talk to her. What can I do?

Unhappy Daughter in Texas

(A.) Write your mother a letter. Send it through the U.S. Postal Service just as you sent your letter to me. Do it right away because the sooner she gets it the better.

Do not complain to her because she refuses to talk to you. Just tell her exactly how much you love her. I believe she will read the letter and listen to what it says.

NERVE INTERFERENCE MAY CAUSE BURSTITIS
By Dr. Thomas F. Snyder
D.C., C.C.O.

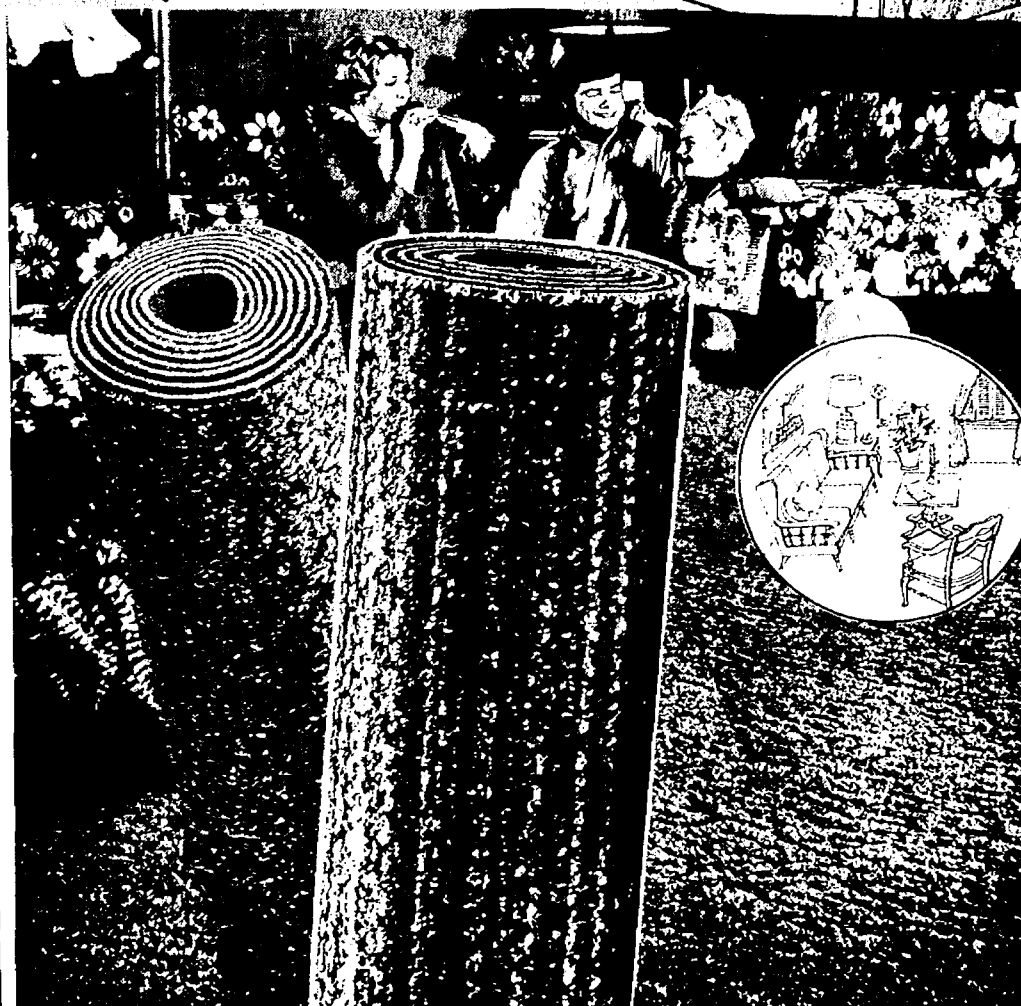

Bursal Sacs are made of fibrous living tissue and a protective cover around the joints such as the elbow, the shoulder and knee.

Bursitis may start in several ways but is more commonly involved with the interference in the transmission of nerve impulses which direct its action due to falls or other injuries either to the immediate joint location or at the sight of the spinal nerve where it emerges from the spine, which affects the lubricating fluid of the bursa causing it to become thick and gritty resulting in inflammation of the joint.

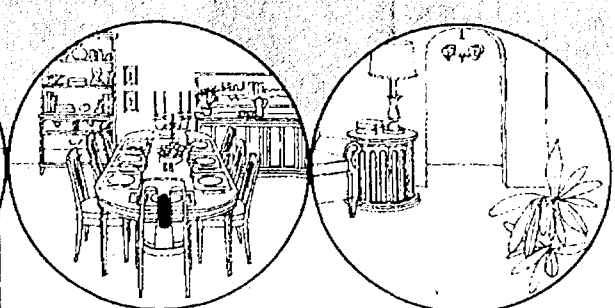

The services of the Chiropractor in most cases of bursitis can restore normal function to this affliction.

OUR LONG-WEARING VOLVOS COME IN ELEVEN MACHINE-WASHABLE, FADE-RESISTANT COLORS.
All our Volvos wear six coats. Which is why a Volvo of any color is ideally suited to take a lot of wash and wear.
The three enamel color coats are applied wet-on-wet-on-wet. Then the body is baked in an oven. The result is a thick, hard finish that protects against corrosion and resists the bleaching effects of the summer sun.
(In Sweden, where the summer sun can shine 24 hours a day, Volvo is the #1 best seller both new and used.)
So in considering performance, look past m.p.h. to the finish. And see us for a colorfast Volvo.
